

Habitat

Alpine swifts breed in mountains from southern Europe to the Himalayas. They cover great distances on their migrations. But despite their name, they don't only live in mountain areas. They can be found on coasts or over open countryside and in the centre of large cities. With their many stone buildings, cities offer them perfect places to nest and breed.

(bird) migration Vogelzug